President's Message

Robert D'Addario
 President, Guildwood Village Community Association
president@guildwood.ca

On behalf of the GVCA Board Members, we would like to welcome all our new families that have joined Guildwood Village. September is a month of new beginnings for many of our residents, including those with school-aged children. We hope that you have had a great start to the school year!

As we discuss new beginnings, I would like to invite all Guildwood Village residents to participate in our GVCA events. We will be connecting with all residents through our social media accounts, News and Views articles, and emails. Please visit us at www.guildwood.ca and sign up to be part of our email list.

I encourage you to connect with your Guildwood Village neighbours. It is important to know who our neighbours are and how we can help each other. An important lesson learned through the pandemic was that we all play a role in keeping our community safe and connected.

The GVCA Board Members are continuously working towards opportunities for all of us to connect as well as working with City of Toronto officials to amplify the voice of Guildwood Village. We will continue to work this year towards our goals of community connections and sustainable living, while holding true to our values of listening and acting on behalf of Guildwood Village residents.

We welcome our GVCA Board of Directors:

Getting To Know The GVCA

Presenting: Carl Doose, Director at Large

As a “Newbie” Director at Large, Carl has a keen interest in continuing to improve our community’s access to the “jewel of Guildwood - the Guild Inn grounds and facilities”. When asked what inspired him to devote personal time to working with the GVCA, Carl mentions that he has lived in Guildwood for the majority of his adult life and now feels it’s his turn to “give back”.

Carl thinks that the best part of working with the committee is having the opportunity to directly affect issues in our community such as the accessibility (or lack thereof) to the Guild Inn and its facilities for Guildwood residents. He believes that the greatest challenge facing the GVCA right now is to focus attention of our elected officials (i.e. City government) on Guildwood issues and keep community members involved. He mentions that the GVCA is a group of dedicated individuals with a wide array of backgrounds and skills, dedicating time and energy to the community, while balancing careers and families.

Carl’s wife grew up in Guildwood – in the house they now own; her parents were the original buyers. Carl and his wife have raised two sons in their home and hope to one day see a fourth generation of their family grow up there. He continues to work in a long, successful career in the Financial Services Technology Industry – which means he’s no stranger to advocating on behalf of key stakeholders (translation: he asks large corporations for significant sums of money in return for his organization’s products and services). Carl hopes to leverage this skill set to advocate on behalf of our community.

Presenting: Lynda Balogh, Director-at-Large

As a new Director-at-Large, Lynda attends board meetings and brings her perspective to discussions about matters that are important to our Board and our residents. The Director-at-Large role doesn’t have a specific remit; rather it gives her a chance to “raise a hand” for areas of interest. She hopes to contribute to the GVCA’s collective responsibility for our mutual success while helping guide our future.

What inspired Lynda to join the GVCA was the desire to have a meaningful impact in a community that she cares about deeply. Volunteering with the GVCA is a way for her to give back and be part of something larger than herself while contributing to a cause close to home (literally and figuratively). Being part of this team is a way to use her skills and experience to help drive positive change in our community.

Lynda says that the best part of working with the Guildwood Village Community Association is the opportunity to strengthen community bonds and make a positive impact in the neighbourhood. She says that “being part of a dedicated team that works to preserve the unique character of Guildwood Village while fostering a sense of belonging and engagement where meaningful connections and impactful contributions are made every day is rewarding.”

Lynda believes that The Guildwood Village Community Association’s biggest challenge of 2024 is addressing the ongoing issues related to community infrastructure and development -- managing the balance between preserving our neighbourhood’s character while accommodating growth and new developments. “Additionally, engaging residents and fostering strong community involvement in the face of changing dynamics and potential external pressures can be a significant challenge.”

Lynda has lived in Guildwood her entire life and resides in her childhood home. She is an enthusiastic and dedicated community member, looking to bring her experiences to contribute across needed areas that will help foster connections among our residents and create a vibrant and supportive neighbourhood. She has delivered the News and Views for a few years now, as well as the annual food donation bags. As a new Director-at-Large, to date she has participated in the 2024 Membership Drive as a Canvasser, and is currently working on a Communications Plan for the 2025 AGM.

After a long career in Human Resources and Corporate Communications, Lynda recently transitioned into a new opportunity as a Quality Project Specialist. This new role furthers her goal of lifelong learning as well as allows her to “dust off and flex some muscles” that are needed in her organization. “While we’re a Company of 21,000+, my addition to the Division increased the team size by 100%! There’s a lot to do!”

There are many volunteers who work together to make Guildwood a great place to live, including those on the GVCA and those who work in the background supporting various events and initiatives. If you’re interested in learning more about Guildwood or how you can become more involved in the community, please reach out to any GVCA member or visit the GVCA website <https://www.guildwood.ca>.

Barrie Morgan

After retiring as a full-time Professor with Centennial College, I stayed within the teaching profession by initially being accepted back on contract on an individual per semester basis. I was then approached by a private career college to design and develop an online travel program.

When the pandemic started, even that opportunity had to come to a close so it was a perfect opportunity to join our local Probus-Guildwood club that I had been considering, but putting off until my workload eased.

Probus (PROfessional BUSiness) is a worldwide organization of about 350,000 members in 27 countries and our Guildwood club is one of about 250 in Canada. Quarterly newsletters on the Canada and Global websites, and meetings on Zoom, offer a great opportunity to meet and talk with other participants, and to encourage the multicultural aspects of the organization. That being said, it's important to note that our constitution does not allow any religious or political activities.

In Guildwood, we have 120 members (and still growing)! We pay only $25 a year for fees plus a one-time initiation fee of $25, which includes the club badge. This is a great price considering we have nine meetings a year in the Guildwood Presbyterian Church hall, with a wide selection of guest speakers. Speakers have entertained us with talks on World War 2, Canadian History and Inventions, electric vehicles, wildlife photography, analysis of handwriting and many other interesting topics.

In addition, the popular monthly "Lunch With Friends" has us going to a variety of pre-selected restaurants in the area where there is a more relaxed opportunity to enjoy companionship and lively discussions.

Our monthly newsletter covers all the activities of the previous month, plus informs everyone of what is coming up in the next few weeks and months. On the schedule, there are theater visits and outings to an alpaca farm, and even a trip to a small local store where we were able to decant and fill dozens of bottles of red and white wine – even labelled them with our own logo and name!

One event we are very proud of was a musical concert given by the Ukrainian refugee family that settled in our community in 2022. Before an audience of 95 members and guests, they entertained us with a selection of music on banduras, a guitar and violin, and even a unique water pipe. The whole concert was taped and published on YouTube. A quilt was raffled and from those ticket sales, together with a donation from the club, we were able to present a cheque for $1,000 to the family.

Our website is very active and is constantly updated to keep up with the many activities that are important, not just to our own members, but to the Guildwood community at large. The home page shows the year's selections of Lunches, Speakers, and Events, as well as links to local events in the Scarborough area.

Looking Back and Ahead at Guild Park in 2024

John P. Mason, President, Friends of Guild Park

Guild Park & Gardens continues to build its reputation as a place for fun and inspiration amid 88 acres of art and nature. Here's a recap of this year's highlights from the perspective of park volunteers.

Also included are recommendations for the park's future, courtesy of a City-sponsored arts group that came to Guild Park for the first time in 2024. Their art program included a series of popular summer events on-site. From this experience, the group recognized that Guild Park is "rich with potential for arts and community engagement" and specified how "to enhance the park's capacity to host arts-related events and improve the overall visitor experience."

Guild Park in Action

Alive with Art: This summer's two-day arts festival, Guild Alive With Culture, attracted a record number of artists, artisans and community reps to the park's formal gardens.

Event visitors saw hundreds of displays for hand-made art and products. Meanwhile, musicians played at the Greek Theatre all weekend under the shining sun. The festival, now in its 17th year, is organized by local City Councillor Paul Ainslie and community supporters.

Guitarist Johannes Linstead was among the many artists of all types featured at the 2024 Guild Alive with Culture Arts Festival.

Visual artist, jogi makhani, used plastics cleared from Guild Park's shore to create his unique sculpture, A Plastic Drop, displayed at Guild Alive with Culture.

Community Focus: The GVCA's Guildwood Day BBQ always takes centre stage at Guild Park on the first Saturday in June. Again this year, thousands of Guildwood residents came to enjoy the benefits of their GVCA membership with families, friends and neighbours.

Success On Stage: Guild Festival Theatre (GFT), Guild Park's resident professional theatre group, brought comedy and drama, plus family-focused music and entertainment to the outdoor marble stage for its 13th season. This year's audience included Mayor Olivia Chow, who enjoyed the magic of GFT's Family Fest.

Performers & Poets: Thanks to Toronto's Arts In the Parks program, Guild Park visitors experienced the rhythms and rhymes of the always popular Nagata Shachu drummers, and the poetry reading series organized by the group, Tender Possibilities.

Japanese drummers, Nagata Shachu, performed at the Greek Theatre as part of Toronto's Arts In The Parks program at Guild Park.

Audience members of all ages got to drum along with Nagata Shachu performers at Guild Park.

Walks to Discover: A variety of guided tours, park walks, clean-ups and nature talks revealed the site’s stories and secrets to visitors of all ages. Local volunteers from Friends of Guild Park collaborated with Heritage Toronto, Doors Open, Jane’s Walks, National Trust for Canada, Ocean Wise, the David Suzuki Foundation, Park People and other organizations on these popular activities.

Trees of Valour: Guild Park’s pair of historic Vimy Oaks are now suitably identified. This spring, local federal politician and Guild Park supporter, John McKay, arranged to have a descriptive plaque installed for these trees.

A Garden of Delight: Guildwood Butterflyway members and other volunteer gardeners tended the park’s Pollinator Garden all summer long. This now-thriving habitat of milkweed and other native species has created a thriving butterfly “factory” beside Guild Park’s well-visited Sculptor’s Cabin.

Greening Guildwood: Another volunteer effort that strengthened our local ecosystem came in June when more than 1,000 native trees and shrubs were distributed to local residents. This initiative by the Guildwood Butterflyway group, Friends of Guild Park and the GVCA is supported by City of Toronto Parks, Forestry & Recreation.

What’s Ahead

All this activity puts a spotlight on Guild Park’s key role as a community and city-wide hub for art and nature. The events hosted on the site – both outdoors and inside the park’s three buildings – are now estimated to attract more than 200,000 visitors a year. This is at least 10 times more than 15 years ago, when the grounds were neglected and the buildings boarded up.

The challenge today is operating Guild Park to better serve the thousands more people coming to the site.

An emerging concern involves public safety. On July 13 this year, Toronto Police Services were called to investigate an assault that took place by Guild Park’s unimproved waterfront. This is an area where, for the second consecutive summer, people are illegally camping on public land. City officials continue to be alerted about these unauthorized encampments at Guild Park but have yet to take effective action.

Four Ways Forward

This summer, an art group sponsored by Toronto Arts In the Parks, brought a new voice to long-standing requests for Guild Park improvements.

The group, Tender Possibilities, hosted a summer-long program of popular poetry readings on the site for the first time. With its community partner, Friends of Guild Park, the group welcomed hundreds of visitors to the park. People came for a series of six outdoor readings, held in rain or shine, with professional and emerging poets. This experience gave group founder, Farhia Tato, and her peripatetic group of poetry fans, a good look at Guild Park’s current facilities. They compared what’s available at Guild Park to other Toronto parks used by Tender Possibilities.

Describing Guild Park as “beautiful and culturally significant,” Farhia identified these enhancements to make the site better for all:

1. More and better-maintained public washrooms.
2. On-site food and beverage services.
3. Improved and additional signage throughout the park.
4. Adding more benches and seating so visitors can better enjoy the park’s natural beauty, while encouraging individual reflection and community interaction.

The arts group noted that Friends of Guild Park continues to advocate for all these improvements, so the site becomes “a more vibrant and welcoming space both for the arts and the public.”

The Arts in the Parks-sponsored group looks forward to returning to Guild Park, continuing its successful collaboration with Friends of Guild Park and working with park officials so they recognize “the need for continued investment in this unique cultural site.”

*For the first time in more than a decade, Toronto Parks officials installed new commemorative bench at Guild Park in 2024. The process had been mired by years of miscommunication and complexity. # Youth Employment in Arts & Culture

Christine Luksts

Another summer season at Guild Festival Theatre has come and gone, and with that, the company bids farewell to the seasonal staff that brought to life our 13th season at Guild Park & Gardens.

While GFT's year-round staff is limited to two Co-Artistic Directors, a General Manager and a small handful of independent contractors, it takes a lot of seasonal employees and artists to make sure that our productions run smoothly. This summer, Guild Festival Theatre employed 15 actors and designers, 11 production and box office staff, and 4 other administrative staff members between May and September. That's a total of 30 temporary/seasonal staff in 2024 alone!

In past years, this staffing was supported in large part by the Canada Summer Jobs Program - a government-funded initiative that provides wage subsidies to employers to create quality summer work experiences for young people aged 15 to 30 years at small businesses and not-for-profit companies. This program enables organizations like Guild Festival Theatre to provide meaningful summer work in the arts to youth looking for summer employment at Scarborough's only professional theatre.

The media is rife with stories of youth unemployment - and the ever-competitive job market in the arts means that there are fewer and fewer opportunities for young artists and arts workers to gain professional experience. In June 2024, Youth Unemployment in Canada reached 13.5%, and Canada's overall unemployment rate hit 6.6% in August.

In 2022, Guild Festival Theatre was approved to hire 18 youth through Canada Summer Jobs whereas in 2023, we were only approved to hire three. This past year, that number was reduced to only one. And we've heard similar stories from colleagues across the country.

But as we say in the theatre, the show must go on! Drawing on other funding sources, including running an ambitious fundraising campaign, Guild Festival Theatre was able to present two productions, Family Fest, and special events and initiatives throughout the summer such as SPIN, and the Scarborough Discovery Drive. This work was supported by 14 youth employees at GFT - many of them Scarborough locals - who gained valuable experience working in a professional summer theatre. This summer's Marketing and Communications Assistant Bonnie Duff says:

"Though I came to GFT with experience in theatre, both onstage and off, the opportunity to work and learn about theatre administration specifically through the lens of marketing not only allowed me to gain valuable professional experience with a company whose work I've been excited about for years, but also grow my skill set in a market that will support my future artistic projects... and pay my rent while doing it! GFT has been a wonderful step in the difficult cycle for young people where you need a job to get experience, but you need experience to get the job."

We are so grateful for the audiences that join us at the iconic Greek Theatre every summer, and for the generous donors that make it possible for us to offer opportunities for emerging artists and arts workers like Bonnie. As we plan for our 2025 Season, we aim to continue to offer these experiences for youth and young artists, and the support we receive through our Donor Ecosystem makes this possible. Visit www.guildfestivaltheatre.ca for more information about donor benefits, and sign up for our mailing list to be the first to hear our 2025 Season announcement this winter.

I Know A Park

Summer poetry sessions at Guild Park inspire a verse

John Mason

As part of the 2024 Arts In the Parks (AITP) program, a Toronto group came to Guild Park this summer to hold a popular series of Sunday poetry readings.

The group, called Tender Possibilities, brought together more than 30 young adults each afternoon. They shared verses and discussed various poetic themes outdoors, rain or shine, amid the park's inspiring nature and art.

These gatherings of poets and participants were organized by Farhia Tato, who founded the group and previously held readings in other parts of Toronto. In Guild Park this year, she and the Tender Possibilities team discovered a place they described as full of "possibility and imagination."

The volunteer organization that I lead, Friends of Guild Park, was selected as AITP's community partner for Farhia's initiative. We shared the park's Sculptor's Cabin as a gathering space. Also, our park volunteers helped participants, many of whom were first-time park visitors, find their way around the park and appreciate the site's history and artistic legacy.

Poetry group organizer, Farhia Tato, hosts a discussion at Guild Park. Part of the 2024 Arts In The Parks program, sponsored by the City of Toronto and Toronto Arts Foundation. Photo credit: Friends of Guild Park

As a fun way for the budding poets to remember their literary adventures at Guild Park this summer, at their final session I shared with them the following verse. Many News & Views readers will recognize the words were inspired by I Know A Place, Petula Clark's hit song from 1965.

I Know A Park

Any day when your work is behind you.
And you put a lock on your phone, so you don't get disturbed.
Just head east to the gates of Guild Park.
You'll be surprised when you hit the 'burbs.

Don't pass by, take a look around.
There are trees and art all over the grounds.
You'll be inspired by nature and get all immersed.
Join the writers as they break out in verse,
'cause I tell you.

I know a park,
Where the poets are fine and their words always rhyme.
I know a park made for summertime.

At the Guild, there's a cabin to greet you.
Then you go down the trails to some grass in the shade.
Soon you know, you'll be speaking out loud,
Because your friends love the comments you've made.

All around there are stories in stone.
It's an inspiring place, where you're never alone.
It's a place where art and nature meet.
You gotta come again real soon,
And post some tweets, 'cause

I know a park.
Where the poets are fine and their words always rhyme.
I know a park where you'll have a good time.

I know a park along the shore.
I know a park that's fun to explore.

The Guild is a place to meet nature and art.
It's a park with magic to inspire your heart.

Remember this park and all the words that you've heard.
It's a place that uniquely welcomes the world.

Guildwood's Got Talent

Known in the art world as “Demilli”, the Toronto-based artist reshaping luxury art with her emotionally charged creations, Dea’s unique pieces not only captivate the senses but forge a profound connection with viewers. Her art is a journey into her world, a reflection of inner thoughts, and an invitation for others to connect with their emotions.

Embarking on her painting journey just four years ago, Dea’s roots in creativity stretch back to childhood, where she experimented with various mediums, including digital art. The pandemic became a catalyst for her exploration into abstract art, a style she quickly embraced. Fueled by her frequent travels and living in different countries throughout the year, Demilli found realism to be a practical choice, liking its ease of mobility and the cleaner workspace it offered.

"In the stillness captured in my artwork, even though it's not alive, its energy resonates deeply with viewers."

Eyes became the focal point of her art, offering a powerful conduit for communication and connection. Demilli believes that the gaze in her paintings creates a profound connection that transcends the physical and delves into the spiritual.

Presenting Dea Mehilli

Joker 2022

When Dea first started painting, she embraced a colourful explosion, unleashing years of suppressed experimentation. Over time, her techniques evolved, refining her style. Today, she focuses on rich royal tones with bold contrasts. One pivotal moment in her artistic journey was the shift from abstract to realism with her first large-scale portrait, a mesmerizing portrayal of the Joker on a 3 x 5 ft canvas. Inspired by a vivid dream of painting the Joker, this marked her first attempt at a large portrait. The Joker piece took a year to complete which proved to be a challenging yet transformative experience. Subsequently, she painted YESHUA in a month and Catrina in two weeks, mastering her creative flow, understanding herself, and gaining confidence in her skills.

Gabby's Guildwood: Coming Soon!

Julia Lakats

Gabby's Restaurant and Bar was originally founded in 1989 by a local Toronto family. Their establishments cater to everyone whether you're looking to bring the family, catch a game, or enjoy a date night. Currently, Gabby's has thirteen locations across Toronto and soon to be a total of fourteen once the Guildwood location opens. Gabby's has been a beloved spot in neighbourhoods just like ours across Toronto. According to President Todd Sherman, they are "Known for our reputation for great food, great value, and a welcoming atmosphere. We can't wait to bring our freshly made on-site food to a new trendy casual space right here in Guildwood."

As for the style of the restaurant, Sherman says it will have a "contemporary yet cozy feel with warm woods and premium finishes and a great bar with lots of HD TVs." I have been to several of their locations and in my opinion their food can only be described as delicious quintessential bar food. The meals are fresh and hot with a wide selection that has something for everyone. On their menu you'll find over 40 items including; deep fried favourites, wings, salad bowls, sandwiches, craft burgers, steak, seafood and more. All of their food is reasonably priced, between $10-15 for appetizers and $15-20 for dinner entrees. I also enjoy their $10-12 kids menu choices; make-your-own tacos or chicken fingers are my daughter's go to favourites. Sherman adds that their "most popular made-to-order buttermilk chicken tenders or our made-to-order fresh fish and chips" are house specialties! I especially love their daily Happy Hour and Weekday Deals which offer discounted food and drinks that will cater to all and Sherman says that these keep "customers coming back for more."

Stay tuned for grand opening announcements! For employment opportunities, interested job seekers can reach out to andrew@Urbandinig.ca. Sherman finished our interview with excitement by expressing that "We look forward to becoming a part of the Guildwood community and serving you all soon!"

Guildwood Planning Walkabout

Andy Manahan

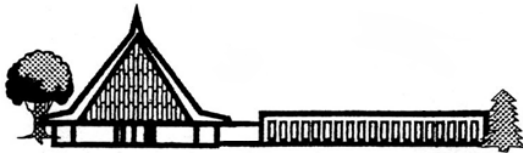

The Guildwood community is facing more development pressures and there has been an increase in applications to replace existing family homes with larger multiplex structures. A walking tour was organized by local residents on October 2 to show Scarborough Planning staff how Guildwood Village was carefully designed in the 1950s and to see what could be done to preserve the special characteristics of this community. The tour was supported by the GVCA and benefitted from the participation of Councillor Paul Ainslie.

Planning staff appreciated the many features of Guildwood and are receptive to working with us. Staff were advised that the GVCA has created a housing subcommittee. At the end of the tour we went to the Rosa and Spencer Clark Parkette where Kathryn Moore, area manager for Wards 24 and 25, was presented with the community flag.

An Update from Gary Anandasangaree, MP Scarborough-Rouge Park

Dear Guildwood,

I hope you all had an exciting summer with family, friends, and neighbours. It's been a busy few months, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to speak with residents about their hopes and concerns for our community and country. Whether it's making life more affordable, tackling crime, or securing federal investments in local transit, housing, and infrastructure, I remain focused on serving all of you.

Cracking Down on Auto Theft:

I know many residents are concerned about auto theft in our community and across Ontario. I want to reassure you that the federal government is actively working with provinces, manufacturers, shippers, and police to tackle this issue head-on. Over the past six months, auto thefts have decreased by 17% nationally and 14% in Ontario. We will continue to drive these numbers down further and keep Canadians and their property safe.

- Tougher criminal penalties for auto theft offences and cracking down on the sale, possession, distribution, and import of devices commonly used to steal cars.
- New scanning tools and enhancements to the Canada Border Service Agency's anti-smuggling efforts, including the deployment of a mobile X-ray scanner in the GTA. These improvements have already led to the interception of 1,205 stolen vehicles in railyards and ports across Canada as of May 20, 2024.
- $121 million to Ontario police services to help them disrupt, dismantle, and prosecute the organized crime groups involved in auto theft.
- $28 million to the Canada Border Services Agency to ensure they can scan outbound rail and shipping containers for stolen cars.

Affordable Dental Care for nearly 650,000 Canadians:

We are delivering on our promise to help more Canadians access dental care and make life more affordable for families, seniors, and children. As of early September, nearly 650,000 Canadians received dental care, and 2.4 million are now covered under the Canadian Dental Care Plan (CDCP).

The CDCP is set to provide affordable dental care to up to nine million uninsured Canadians, making it one of the largest social programs in Canadian history. Currently, the CDCP is open to eligible seniors aged 65 or above, adults with a valid Disability Tax Credit Certificate, and children under 18, covering services such as cleanings, fillings, dentures, and more. Even more Canadians will be eligible for the CDCP starting in 2025.

For more information, please visit Canada.ca/Dental or speak with a dedicated agent at 1-833-537-4342

Finding a CDCP Provider:

It's important for patients to continue seeing their family dentist or a provider close to home. That's why we're working hard to enrol more oral health professionals. Currently, over 20,500 providers are participating in the CDCP, which accounts for 82% of active providers in Canada!

Find participating dentists in our community at sunlife.ca/sl/cdcp/en/member/provider-search

MP Gary Anandasangaree talks with local dentists about how the Canadian Dental Care Plan is helping Scarborough families save money and stay healthy.

National Day for Truth and Reconciliation:

On September 30, the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation, I joined Canadians in honouring the children who never returned home and those who continue to endure the trauma of residential schools. For too long, the voices of Survivors and those affected have been silenced, denied, or ignored. This day was a time for sombre reflection, as only by listening to Survivors, families, and Indigenous voices with compassion and empathy can we truly understand the harm and pain caused.

Indigenous Peoples have shown immense courage and resilience. As the Minister of Crown-Indigenous Relations, I am dedicated to working in partnership with First Nations, Inuit, and Métis Peoples to ensure every child is remembered with dignity and that families have the opportunity to heal.

First Gear Driver Education Helps Youth Prepare for their G1 Driver's Licence

Blaise Kurucz #9165, Toronto Police Services 43 Division, Crime Prevention Officer

This October, Toronto Police 43 Division ran First Gear Driver Education and launched a five-week program aimed at helping approximately 20 students obtain their G1 driver's licence. Running on Saturdays, the program was a collaborative effort that brought together experts from organizations such as the Ministry of Transportation Ontario (MTO), the Canadian Automobile Association (CAA), Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), and the Toronto Police Service (TPS) traffic unit.

The program prepares students for the G1 exam and equips them with the knowledge to make safe choices on the road. By educating young drivers, the initiative hopes to reduce the risks of aggressive driving and illegal street activities in the future.

The Children's Breakfast Club and ProAction Cops and Kids generously support the program, which is offered free of charge to participants. Each student receives study materials, lunch, and the fees for their G1 licence—all covered at a value of approximately $250 per student. In addition to preparing students for the exam, the program fosters stronger connections between police officers and youth in the 43 Division community, building trust and ensuring safer roads for everyone.

A course will be offered in the new year, however, the date has not yet been set. For more information on future sessions, please email PC KURUCZ at 9165@tps.ca

An Update from Andrea Hazell, MPP Scarborough-Guildwood

Greetings Guildwood! These recent months have been extremely busy and productive, and I am so excited to share all that I have been doing throughout the community and for you!

Throughout these last few months, I have worked hard to advocate for and represent each of you. I have supported many cultural, social and political events in Scarborough and the surrounding areas. This past summer was packed with events such as Guild Alive, Toronto Zoo's 50th Anniversary, Toronto Caribbean Carnival, the grand opening of SHN's Community Mental Health Centre and many elementary and high school graduation ceremonies across my riding!

Canada Day with MPP Andrea Hazell

It was amazing to host my first Canada Day celebration at my constituency office. The community came together to celebrate, and it was wonderful to see so many residents gather at my office. This celebration had delicious food and inspiring conversations! It was a true testament to the strength and diversity of our community!

Community Safety & Well-Being Information Session

On July 12th, I hosted my first information session on community safety and well-being at my constituency office. This information session was a moment for us all to learn, share and connect, while supporting one another. Together, let's continue to build a strong, safe and more compassionate community!

Job Fair hosted by MPP Andrea Hazell

Over the summer, I hosted a Job Fair for residents to meet amazing organizations, resume experts, and career coaches. This event was a huge success as many attendees were able to network with job seekers, industry professionals, and submit their resumes to organizations who were hiring.

LCBO Strike

I stood alongside OPSEU and LCBO workers as we fought for a fair deal that works for these employees. I am an advocate for ensuring the safety and security of each and every LCBO employee across this province.

End of Summer Family Fest

To wrap up the summer, I hosted an End of Summer Family Fest featuring delicious BBQ, cotton candy, popcorn, face painting, bouncy castles and much more. This event was unforgettable! Beyond the entertainment, there were community organization booths, a free book fair for everyone and more! This event was truly special, and it was a pleasure to meet so many families, seniors, business owners, and community leaders!

Queen's Park Update

Throughout the summer months, I attended many flag raising events at Queen's Park; including Emancipation Month, Jamaica's Independence Day, CARICOM and more! I also continued to participate in the Standing Committee on Finance and Economic Affairs.

As we resume session at the Legislative Assembly of Ontario, I continue to fight for the residents of Scarborough-Guildwood and represent the community at Queen's Park. Subscribe to my newsletter and find me on social media to see videos of my work at the legislature!

Community Safety in Scarborough-Rouge Park

Jennifer McKelvie, Deputy Mayor, Councillor, Ward 25, Scarborough – Rouge Park

Dear Neighbours,

It was wonderful to see so many of you at our Harvest Fest in September. Thank you to all of our community members who brought locally-grown produce and craft goods, and our performers for showing off the talent we have in Scarborough-Rouge Park. I hope everyone enjoyed themselves and I look forward to seeing you again next year.

Toronto Community Crisis Service

To improve community safety and better respond to mental health crisis calls, Toronto Council approved the Toronto Community Crisis Service (TCCS) in 2021. The service provides a non-police-led, community-based, client-centred, and trauma-informed response to mental health crisis calls and wellness checks. The TCCS provides free, confidential, in-person mental health support from mobile crisis worker teams. The service can also provide referrals and connections to other services and post-crisis follow up support. The service is fully deployed in Scarborough and is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. TCCS crisis workers wear green lanyards and carry identification cards. The City of Toronto logo is on all TCCS vehicles, along with the logos of community partners. If you or someone you know is experiencing a mental health crisis, or needs a wellness check, you can call 211 or 911 to access the Toronto Community Crisis Service.

We Need to ‘Solve the Crisis’ Together

I have the honour of representing Toronto at the Ontario’s Big City Mayors (OBCM) meetings. We have launched the ‘Solve the Crisis’ campaign to take action on homelessness, addiction and mental health. The campaign requests the provincial government to:

- Appoint a single Minister to address the full spectrum of housing needs, as well as mental health and addictions;
- Strike a task force with stakeholders to develop a Made in Ontario Action Plan;
- Provide municipalities with tools and resources to transition those in encampments to more appropriate supports;
- Commit to funding the appropriate services these individuals need; and
- Invest in 24/7 Community Hubs/Crisis Centres.

Visit solvethecrisis.ca to learn more and show your support.

The impacts of homelessness are growing in Toronto. We have more than 12,000 people in our shelter system, we turn away an average of 226 people daily, and we have more than 430 encampments. In Toronto, 76% of people experiencing homelessness have one or more health issues, including addiction, mental health, or chronic medical conditions.

Mental health and addiction have significant impacts on our municipal services. Paramedic response times have increased by 14%, and 60% of their time is spent in hospital. Similarly, Toronto Police spend an average of two hours in hospital to admit a mental health patient: this time spent in hospital annually is the equivalent of 20 full-time officers.

To relieve pressure on emergency centres and first responders, we need crisis centres across Toronto, including in Scarborough. I will continue this advocacy as I represent our beautiful community of Scarborough-Rouge Park at Toronto City Hall.
